

O My People, Hear My Teaching

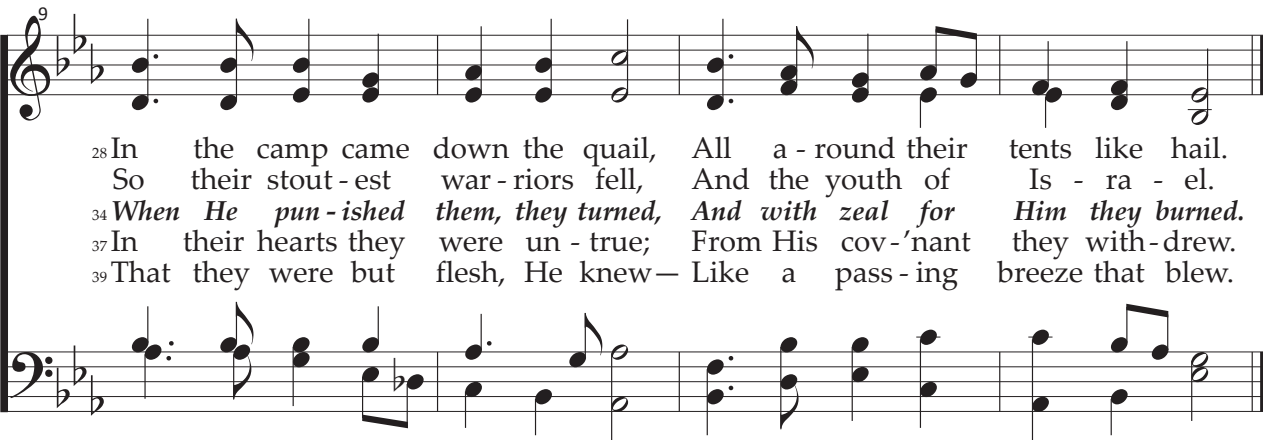

Cont'd, Psalm 78:26-39

11. ²⁶ From the heav'ns He loosed the east wind, Led the south wind forth with pow'r.
 12. ²⁹ Thus in glut-ton-y they feast-ed, For He gave them their de-sire.
 13. ³² Still they dis-be-lieved His won-ders, Kept on sin-ning none-the-less.
 14. ³⁵ God their Rock they then re-mem-bered, Their Re-deem-er, God Most High;
 15. ³⁸ Yet in mer-cy He for-gave them; From de-struc-tion He re-frained.

27 Meat, like dust, He rained up-on them, Birds like sand up-on the shore.
 30 But be-fore they fin-ished eat-ing 31 God's dis-pleas-ure blazed like fire.
 33 So He closed their days in ter-ror And their years in emp-ti-ness.
 36 But their words were meant to flat-ter, What they told Him was a lie.
 Man-y times He curbed His an-ger And His ut-most wrath restrained.

28 In the camp came down the quail, All a-round their tents like hail.
 So their stout-est war-riors fell, And the youth of Is-ra-el.
 34 When He pun-ished them, they turned, And with zeal for Him they burned.
 37 In their hearts they were un-true; From His cov-'nant they with-drew.
 39 That they were but flesh, He knew— Like a pass-ing breeze that blew.
